

From the St. Joseph West.
NARY RED.

The silvery stars shine brightly,
Like dollars in the sky, Dost marvel that it saddens me?
Nary red have I.

The mincing maiden daily Pass me heedless by,
Wouldst thou know the reason, sir?
Nary red have I.

The volumes from my pipe-stem Float lazily on high—
'Tis the only comfort left me—
Nary red have I—

Musing lone at twilight, The breezes floating by,
My heart is full of trouble—
Nary red have I.

And when by care o'erpowered
I stretch me on my bed, Friendly sleep keeps far away,
For I have nary red.

I watch the jolly drinkers Drain their goblets dry,
The world I'd give to join them—
Nary red have I.

While the world is full of sunshine,
In the shade I sigh:
'Why shiver in the shade?' say you—
Nary red have I.

And love, and fame and office
Are sold at public cry,
Not a share is bought by me—
Nary red have I.

Edward Everett on the Cable.
One of the finest things yet spoken on the cable is the following by Edward Everett:

"Does it seem all but incredible to you that intelligence should travel two thousand miles, along those slender copper wires, far down in the all but fathomless Atlantic, never before penetrated by aught pertaining to humanity, save when some foundering vessel has plunged, with her hapless company, to the eternal silence and darkness of the abyss? Does it seem, I say, all but a miracle of art that the thoughts of living men—the thoughts that we think, up here on the earth's surface, in the cheerful light of day—about the markets, the exchanges, and the seasons, and the elections, and the treaties, and the wars, and all the fond nothings of daily life—should clothe themselves with elemental sparks, and shoot with fiery speed in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, from hemisphere to hemisphere, far down among the uncouth monsters that wallow in the nether seas, along the wreck-paved floor, through the oozy dungeons of the rayless deep; that the last intelligence of the crops, whose dangling tassels will in a few months be coquetting with the west wind on these boundless prairies, should go flashing along the slimy decks of old sunken galleons, which have been rotting for ages; that messages of friendship and love, from warm living bosoms, should burn over the cold green bones of men and women, whose hearts, once as warm as ours, burst as the eternal gulfs closed and roared over them centuries ago?"

Gov. Stewart Not Whipped.

We published in our last, a statement from the St. Joseph "Journal," to the effect that Gov. Stewart had been engaged in a Beer House frolic, and got well whipped.
The "Journal," was wrong, it seems, and corrects as follows:—

Misinformation.—From a full investigation of the facts concerning the late difficulty between Gov. Stewart and Dr. Erdman, we are convinced that we were misinformed.
Gov. Stewart was not whipped.

"Was not whipped." Glad to hear it, but suppose the Governor was drunk, did fight, and perhaps whipped the dutch Doctor.

One night at the New York Opera House, Mr. T., a well known suctier, joined with the crowded pit in calling out the then popular tenor, Forti. "Forti!
Forti!" shouted Mr. T. "Two and a half!" exclaimed a wag. Mr. T. called no more.

"Did you see Forti?" said a N. Y. beau to a lady from the country, at the opera house the same night. "See forty!" said she, much offended; "I'm not thirty-five yet!"

Reader, we are not responsible. Another man did 'em.

The entrance door of the new Capitol at Washington, symple the door, constructed under the direction of the Buchanan administration cost $23,000. We suppose that the Democracy of the country will swallow unhesitatingly most of the Administration's expenditures, but we guess that even they won't like to bolt that door.—

To our Customers.
FROM and after the 1st day of March next, we will dispense with our Books and positively adopt the low price
CASH SYSTEM.
We are forced to this from the fact—KNOWN TO ALL—that the commodities we deal in are not sold on time. Cash is required of us, and with the present state of the Money Market, we cannot borrow money on such terms as would enable us to sell on time, unless we were to add on such a percentage as would drive trade from our town. After due deliberation, we adopt the CASH PLAN, with corresponding LOW PRICES, as will enable us, so soon as the Spring Trade fairly opens, to secure Weekly Supplies of Groceries.
We will exchange our goods at all times, for the Produce of the country, at fair living rates.

warranting entire satisfaction.
